FINANCE composed especially for CIA by that wizard of finance, [REDACTED]

The Indochinese piaster, is considerably overvalued at present because (it was never really changed)
~~it was left at pre-devaluation parity~~ when the franc was devalued in 1949. Exchange rates, based on the Paris free-market franc, fix the piaster's <sup>official</sup> value at 20.58 to the US dollar, ~~xxxxxx~~ but ~~40-45~~ on the black market <sup>rate</sup>

~~Indochina is undergoing xxxxxxxx inflation xxxxx~~

Ordinary governmental expenses are borne by the administration at Saigon;

[I suppose this is Bao Dai & cie but I do not want anyone to believe I am committed to this stand] those of the current military campaign by the French treasury. Despite this and the fact that ~~xxxxxx~~ the Saigon <sup>Government</sup> was able to collect 60% of its revenue from customs receipts ~~some~~ [Presume the other 40% came from the picking of pockets, but it does not say here] there was a deficit of 241,000 <sup>000</sup> piasters in 1949 which had to be financed from reserve funds. Some reduction in income was occasioned through the ~~xxxxxx~~ requirement that all excise taxes <sup>(must flow)</sup> go to separate state administrations. This document has been approved for release through the HISTORICAL REVIEW PROGRAM of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Of the 167 billion francs appropriated by the French for the military campaign, 90 billion (5.29 billion piasters) <sup>(must)</sup> was spent in various ways in Indo-

China. <sup>itself inflationary effect</sup> The ~~result xxxxxxxx~~ of the enormously increased purchasing power brought about by <sup>this</sup> the ~~EXCESSIVE~~ expenditure of more money than had been in <sup>(previously)</sup> circulation was ~~unaffected~~ to some extent minimized by the withdrawal of new money in the form of ~~the~~ export of capital to France; ~~the~~ allotments and remittances to their native countries by members of the French armed services; ~~the~~ payments for French imports; ~~the~~ conversion of profits from black market and smuggling operations, ~~the~~ and ordinary flight of capital.

and lessen the burden on the French treasury Attempts have been made to improve the situation/ ~~XXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXXX~~ taxes through strict control of exchange transactions, but authorities have been ~~unwilling~~ unwilling to make a serious attempt at restricting ~~piaster~~ transfers from piasters to francs because of the dire economic and political effects that would result in Indochina. [And now I suppose someone is going to ask me just what these dire results would be and why the transfer between francs and piasters has anything to do with them. All I can say is that if you don't even know that much, you have no business reading high-level papers like this in the first place.]

(In addition to the alarming facts ~~XX have been confirmed by the~~

from SR-40 that I have so faithfully transcribed above, there is a witty little paragraphs about banks. I have not included this, partly because I could not find any place to put it and partly because I dislike banks. We could say at the end of the paper "The Bank of Indochina is Indochina's biggest bank and the bank of choice for the plaster (adv.) but beyond that I am stumped.)
